Biography of Dr. Andrew Murray

I studied Biochemistry at Oxford and am now a Director of Studies in Natural Sciences at Trinity Hall. I am also a lecturer in the Department of Physiology, Development and Neuroscience, and my research is concerned with the response of the body to low oxygen levels in diseases and at high altitude. I grew up in Newport, South Wales and was the first member of my family to attend university. For me, the experience of studying a subject that I love in a world-class institution was indescribably fulfilling, and might explain why I am still doing it today! I am committed to encouraging bright, passionate, young students to apply to Cambridge, regardless of their background, so that they too can have the life-changing experiences that I have enjoyed.

Cambridge University Admissions

The application deadline for students who wish to be interviewed in Hong Kong is 15th October, 2013. Cambridge University will consider applications from candidates who have studied or are studying towards the Hong Kong Diploma of Secondary Education (HKDSE). Candidates will typically be asked to obtain grades 5*, 5*, 5 in three specified elective subjects related to their chosen course at the University of Cambridge. Applicants should normally expect to be set demanding conditions in the other compulsory subjects in the Diploma core, particularly in Mathematics and English. Alternatively, they will consider applications from candidates who have studied or are studying towards either the International Baccalaureate (IB), A Levels or an equivalent qualification, or hold a Bachelors degree. Offers drawn from more than one examination (hybrid offers) will not normally be made.

About the Prince Philip Scholarship

Founded in 1981 by Sir Dr David Li, The Friends of Cambridge University in Hong Kong has raised and managed a scholarship fund called The Prince Philip Scholarship and has been supporting numerous promising students from Hong Kong to study at Cambridge University since 1982. The Prince Philip Scholarship includes a non-means tested cash award and one Hong Kong-London economy class return air ticket will also be awarded free of means test results. Scholars may also claim, where necessary, the full costs of tuition and subsistence.
