The Grandes Écoles

- ◆ Some of the Grandes Écoles are public; some are private. They include schools of engineering, the venerable écoles normales supérieures (ENS), institutes of political science (IEP), schools of business and management, veterinary schools, and other specialized schools.
- ◆ They offer professional education of a very high caliber.
- ◆ Admission is highly selective.
- ◆ Grandes Écoles recognized by the French government grant diplomas from the baccalauréat to the graduate (5-year) level. Some confer diplomas officially recognized as the equivalent of the Master.
- ◆ The Grandes Écoles charge tuition that is higher than that of the universities.
- ◆ Many courses and some entire programs are taught in English.
- ◆ In 2015, France's Grandes Écoles enrolled 58,022 international students (2015).

Focus on management programs

- ◆ Training in management remains a strong point of French higher education.
- ✓ 24 French schools were among the Financial Times' top-ranked Masters of Management in 2017.
- ✓ The top MBA is French (INSEAD)
(Financial Times 2017 ranking)
- ✓ 14 French institutions hold triple accreditation (AACSB, AMBA, EFMD), an accomplishment unique in Europe
- ◆ Programs in the Grandes Écoles
- ✓ Programs are offered at various levels.
- ✓ Institutional quality is reflected in objective criteria.
- ✓ Most schools are private.
- ◆ University-based programs
- ✓ Programs tend to be research-oriented.
- ✓ University-based schools of management are known as IAEs (institutes of business administration)
- ◆ Some 20 schools that confer the title of engineer offer specializations in management.
